EMBRY & CO.,
OF LEXINGTON, KENTUCKY, ARE MAKING EXTENSIVE IMPROVEMENTS.
Requirement For Ample Space
Necessitates Making of Important Changes at Up-to-Date Shop.

In keeping with the idea of "The Greater Lexington" and also with that of its own marked progress, Embry & Co., outfitters to women, are in the midst of improvements in their shop at 141-143 East Main street, Lexington, Ky., that will make it one of the most attractive in the South.
On account of the pressing demand for more space in each department the second floor is being remodeled for the millinery parlors, leaving the entire first floor as show rooms for the garment department.
The millinery parlors are being appointed in the most exquisite style with a beautiful color scheme of green, white, and gold, and elegantly furnished to accommodate its extensive and exclusive patronage.
The garment department occupying as it will henceforth the entire first floor will be probably the largest, and certainly the handsomest in the South, accommodating the most varied stock this firm has ever shown.
Mrs. Henrietta Campbell Ballard, who has accepted a position as assistant buyer, will be a valuable acquisition, enjoying as she does a wide circle of friends and acquaintances.
W. R. Embry, buyer for the garment department, together with Mrs. Ballard, has just returned from New York. Having made this early visit to the East, new models for the spring are now being shown.
Miss Embry, buyer for the millinery department, will join her designer in New York shortly for a stay of several weeks. In the meantime Palm Beach hats are being shown to those going South.

Barn Yard Masquerade at Trimble's Rink Thursday night, February 28. Music furnished for this occasion by the Mt. Sterling Vagabond Band of world-wide reputation. Valuable prizes.

RELIGIOUS

Preaching at the Southern Presbyterian Church next sabbath at 11 a. m. and 7 p. m. Endeavor at 6 p. m.
A message has been received from Rev. T. Benton Hill saying that his mother was improving and he would return to Mt. Sterling and occupy his pulpit at the Baptist Church Sunday morning and evening. Mr. Hill is anxious to meet each member of his congregation at these services. The public is cordially invited to these services.
John P. Jones is arranging for his second trip this season to New York where he can see with his own eyes the choice weaves and styles and select for his up-to-date store here. There is not a store in Kentucky that handles more select lines of dry goods and notions than Mr. Jones puts over his counters.

MRS. EMMA WILSON.

DEATHS.

MULLINS.—Mrs. Lucy Mullins, 90 years, died at her home near Jeffersonville last week of pneumonia. She was a highly respected woman.
The wife of Rev. E. L. Powell, pastor of the Walnut Street Christian church, died in Louisville on the 16th instant, as a result of an operation. Rev. Powell is well-known here, where he has many friends, and who will sympathize with him deeply. Mr. Powell has gone South to be absent for several weeks.
PETERS.—At her home near Bethel, on the 23rd instant, Mrs. William R. Peters, in her sixty-eighth year, of pneumonia. She was a member of the Methodist Church. Funeral at Methodist Church at Bethel and burial in Longrove Cemetery. Mrs. Peters was an excellent woman and her life was a useful one, rendering comfort to the distressed, ever mindful of the poor, and was an active church worker, having united with the church at Millersburg under the ministry of Dr. Savage, deceased, in 1855. Was married in 1860 and leaves a wife and five children.
KELLY.—The remains of Mr. F. Kelly, who died at St. Joseph's Hospital, Lexington, the 24th was brought here, and after funeral services Tuesday morning, were buried at St. Thomas Cemetery. Mr. Kelly had been a invalid for several years, had retired from business, and becoming very much worse, was taken to the hospital for special attention and treatment. He was a brother of J. M. Kelly, Lexington, Mrs. Jas. Taulbee, Owensville, and Mrs. Frank Laughlin, this city. He was son of Martin Kelly, deceased, and was 45 years old. A special from Lexington, says of him: "He came to Lexington about 15 years ago, and about 5 years later became proprietor of the Florentine Hotel on Main street, which is now the Leonard Hotel. He conducted the Florentine as a stag hostelry, and it was a favorite resort for drummers, sporting men, and theatrical people, among whom Kelly became widely known all over the country. He was a well-known man about town, and his wit and genial nature made him universally popular. His business prospered and he was known as a man of independent fortune. About two years ago he was compelled on account of ill health to close out his business, which he sold to the present proprietors of the Leonard Hotel, who adopted the latter name for the old Florentine. Mr. Kelly's ailment was incipient paresis, and realizing that it was only a question of time until it became fatal, he retired from all active business and went to Mt. Sterling, where he made his home with his mother and sister, father having died. He gradually grew worse, until last Friday, when he was brought to St. Joseph's Hospital here in the faint hope that something could be done to save his life. All efforts were in vain, however, and he continued to sink until he expired."
WYATT.—On last Thursday morning Mr. A. J. Wyatt, of
